The statue of St Joseph from Paris.

When you go up the main entrance of St Joseph’s Church in Bukit Timah (SJCBT), you can see the giant statue of St Joseph casting watchful eyes over everyone and everything.

SJCBT obtained the statue through the Missions Étrangères de Paris (MEP). Fr Ambroise Maistre, who had established the Chapel of St Mary in Aukang in Serangoon in 1853, took over as SJCBT’s second parish priest in 1858 and requested for an eight-foot-high statue of St Joseph from Paris. The statue arrived at SJCBT in 1861, but Fr Maistre had then relocated in 1860 to Penang and Province Wellesley.

The honour of receiving the statue at SJCBT went to Fr Augustin Perie, who had become the third parish priest in 1860 after serving in Penang. The 15 June 1861 edition of The Straits Times wrote about the statue’s arrival from Europe, describing the statue as ‘beautiful’ and the parishioners as ‘poor Chinese planters and gardeners’.

There are interesting stories involving the St Joseph statue. The first story was about a man who had encountered a tiger in the jungle but an unknown person with a walking staff rescued him; the man came to church later, saw the statue of St Joseph, and discovered that his rescuer was St Joseph. The second story was about a poor non-Christian woman who brought her sick grandchild for healing in church and was assured by a bearded man that the child would recover the next day. The woman returned to the church when the child recovered, saw the St Joseph statue, realised that the healer was St Joseph and became a convert. A third story was during the Japanese Occupation when the Japanese army used the church for its military operations to plan its attack in town. The British shelled the site to destroy the radio centre, but no bomb exploded. The thankful Japanese officers bowed in front of the St Joseph statue. A fourth story was about a mother placing her young boy suffering from pneumonia at the foot of the statue; she prayed to St Joseph to heal him or to take him away. Her son recovered.

St Joseph has also answered the prayers of people in various ways over the years. Fr Augustine Perie found some money to start a school when a Chinese non-

Christian woman came to church for a blessing and generously donated cash. During the Japanese Occupation, when predatory soldiers searched for young girls, parish priest Fr Peter Chin hid 10 girls in the bell tower while the Brothers of St Gabriel sheltered terrified parishioners in the St Joseph’s Trade School.

A teenager recovered from coma after her family prayed to St Joseph. A woman who had prayed to the Holy Trinity read about St Joseph’s powerful intercession and then had many prayers answered. Another woman prayed for four years before her missing son returned. A migrant thanked St Joseph for safeguarding his job in Singapore. A man found courage as a non-swimmer to save a boy from a flooded canal.

Many grateful worshippers faithfully celebrate St Joseph’s Feast Day. In the past when a train passed by the church, the driver stopped outside the entrance to allow the faithful to disembark. When the Fun Fair started in 1952 to raise funds for church and school projects, the Singapore Standard newspaper reported that over 3000 Catholics from Singapore and Malaya had visited the church to ‘offer thanks for vows fulfilled’.

During the 2024 Feast Day celebrations, with the theme of ‘St Joseph, Protector of the Holy Family’, wardens and clergy joyfully carried a procession-sized statue of St Joseph around church grounds. All ministries participated in the procession. Floral bouquets around the original statue also showed parishioners’ love for St Joseph.

When we celebrate the 180th Anniversary of SJCBT in 2026, it would also be the 165th Anniversary of the arrival of the St Joseph statue from Paris!

By Peter Ling

The ‘beautiful’ statue of St Joseph looks as new as when it first arrived from Paris in 1861. It was ‘restored’ in 1893 for the Feast Day celebration. In the 20th century, it was repaired when its neck cracked during the shift of the statue to the new church in the early 1960s and when its hand broke after devotees touched it forcefully many times.
